

be voting during that period. We will be continuing the very important discussion on the nomination itself.

My goal in that discussion next week is to begin to talk, not to extend what has been a very good debate, but have a discussion on this nomination in terms of the constitutional significance of advice and consent. Monday, hopefully in the afternoon, some of that discussion will begin, and then also continue that through Tuesday.

I do thank the assistant minority leader and really the whole other side of the aisle. We have had a productive week. We made real progress to complete the treaty yesterday, a very important initiative. I look forward to next week being a productive week.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, if the Senator will yield, the other question I have is, I learned yesterday that there may be an effort on Tuesday morning from 11 to 12:30 to get back on Estrada, talking about some constitutional issues people think are there. That is fine. I was just wondering if that, in fact, is the case because the Judiciary Committee members want to plan their schedules if in fact that were the case.

Mr. FRIST. That is the time that has been set aside, similar to today. There had been a request from both sides of the aisle today to spend time talking about the issue that has been discussed; that is, Iraq and the events there. Similarly, people have asked, well, we have been on Estrada, but why don't we take a period of time to give focus to the big issues that affect the institution in terms of advice and consent and balance of power. In response to that, we have set aside this period between 11 o'clock and 12:30 on Tuesday. It is my hope that we have many Senators here to participate in that debate because I look forward to it. The whole purpose is to set that period aside. We will discuss the best way to construct that between both sides.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, through you to the leader, I extend my appreciation for his courtesy, as usual.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL 2 P.M.,
MONDAY, MARCH 10, 2003

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, if there is no further business to come before the Senate, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate stand in adjournment under the previous order.

There being no objection, the Senate, at 1:47 p.m., adjourned until Monday, March 10, 2003, at 2 p.m.
